Emily Greene

Pennsylvania State Director at Americans for Prosperity

Emily graduated from the University of Pittsburgh with a major in Political Science and immediately jumped head-first into political campaigns. The political climate in Pennsylvania in 2016 provided her with an in-depth, hands-on experience in high-profile races, and she thrived in the fast-paced nature of the campaign lifestyle. After several campaign cycles and a healthy mix of wins and losses under her belt, Emily joined the Americans for Prosperity Pennsylvania team in 2018, taking on the role of Field Director in the Greater Pittsburgh region. Six years later, Emily serves as State Director where she works to build broad-based coalitions and promotes sound policy that helps all Pennsylvanians achieve prosperity--not just a select few. Under the dome, Emily loves to take on policy fights that bring unique coalitions and unlikely partners to the table. Through these partnerships, Emily fights for policy within the economic, health care, and regulatory reform space.
